Love and Power
Use, Misuse, and Paradox

The archetypes of love and power exist at the core of human behavior. The dance between them is eternal and the energies lie at the bedrock of all culture. Revealed in literature, music, and art and seen in myths, fairytales, and historical events, these psychic energies are soul-making, inform our lives, and shape great civilizations. As individuals who take the journey of developing consciousness, we continuously encounter the uses, misuses, and paradoxes of love and power. Where love and power converge, there are inevitable collisions with personal, collective, and cultural history, with belief systems, and with a panoply of psychological as well as physical repercussions.

This conference will explore the dynamics and interactions of these powerful archetypal forces. What is Love? What is Power? How do we as analysts observe aspects of this pair of opposites? Are they mutually exclusive? How do we work with various aspects of love and power? Where are they revealed at the collective level? How do they play out? What are constructive ways of working with these energies?

We invite you to join us in exploring the interplay of personal and archetypal aspects of love and power. Topics range from clinical issues to historical examples of our forefathers and their struggles with the mantle of political power, to personal reflections on experience in the contemporary political arena, and to revelations on the world stage and archetypal representations in film and other media of the arts. These presentations will lead us into deeper reflection and insight to highlight—and perhaps move towards—transformation through the effects and influence of Love and Power in our lives. We hope that you will join us in these rich explorations in a major seat of power, Washington, D.C., at one of the loveliest times of year!

The conference is open to all Jungian Analysts, Candidates-in-Training, and all other licensed mental health professionals.

Conference and Pre-Conference Workshop Registration

Conference fees of $415 for Analysts, $365 for Candidates, and $415 for other mental health professionals include all conference programs, the Thursday reception, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday breakfasts, and the Saturday evening dinner party. Conference attendees may bring guests to the reception, breakfasts, and dinner party for an additional fee.

Space in each of the Concurrent Sessions is limited and available first-come, first-served (note the small group discussion with Tim Sanderson is limited to 15). Please include your choices on the registration form.

The pre-conference workshops are available only to conference participants for an additional charge of $50 for a half day workshop and $100 for a full day workshop.

The Friday evening Capitol Steps performance is optional and available at the special group rate of $33 each while tickets last.

To register, please complete the form by checking the appropriate options and return with your payment (MasterCard, Visa, or check in U.S. dollars payable to the North American Conference of Jungian Analysts) to Toni D'Anca, 1015 Orilla del Mar #7, Santa Barbara, CA 93103, USA, fax to 805.962.1878, e-mail tdanca@mac.com, or call 805.965.4837. If registering for more than one person, please use separate registration forms. A confirmation email will be sent upon receipt of your registration. Cancellations will be accepted up until September 1 with a refund less $50 processing fee for the conference and a $15 processing fee for each workshop. No refunds can be made after this time.

Continuing Education Credit

This conference is co-sponsored by the Council of North American Societies of Jungian Analsyts (CNASJA) and the National Association for the Advancement of Psychoanalysis (NAAP). NAAP is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. NAAP maintains responsibility for this program and its content.

A total of 16.5 hours for the conference, 3 hours for each of the half day pre-conference workshops and 6 hours for the full day workshop will be available for psychologists and any other licensed mental health practitioner for whom APA credit is accepted by your licensing board. A $15 processing fee will be charged for each certificate requested.

Pre-Conference Workshops

Love, Power, and Money in the Life and Work of the Analyst
Amy Sprague Champeau [CSJA/Chicago]

In this workshop, we will bring money out of the shadows by exploring the role of money in our personal and professional lives. We will look at money from both personal and collective perspectives and address the clinical implications of money issues in the analytic vessel. We will engage this topic through the use of experiential exercises and active imagination. These exercises will be the catalyst for discussions and reflection as a group.

Thursday, October 1 / 9:00 am-4:30 pm / $100 / 6 CE Hours

Addicted Love: The Conjunction of Eros and Power
Julie Bondanza [JAWA/Washington, DC]

Eros can take us to ecstatic heights, but also to the depths of despair especially when we have conflated Eros and power. As long as the connection between Eros and power stays in the shadow, the more we get lost in compulsive longing, destructive relationships and sexual addictions. In this workshop, we will struggle to understand the nature of Eros and erotic longing in both its sensual and spiritual aspects and will amplify our exploration with archetypal and clinical examples.

Thursday, October 1 / 9:00 am-12:00 pm / $50 / 3 CE Hours

Wanting to Be Seen, Longing to Be Loved: Art Making in Analysis
Sondra Geller [PAJA/Philadelphia]

We will use tissue paper collage to draw us into psyche. The process is playful, creative and healing. Under the unconditionally accepting gaze of the analyst/witness, participants will learn how to make and then look deeply into colorful, expressive collages discovering the images hidden in the random shapes and colors. Working in this way recreates the fundamental dynamics of the mother-infant dyad where fed by the attuned maternal gaze the archetypal longing to be seen is mirrored. These experiences help to create temenos, a prerequisite for feeling loved and a catalyst for individuation.

Thursday, October 1 / 1:30-4:30 pm / $50 / 3 CE Hours

Where love reigns,
there is no will to power:
and where power predominates,
there love is lacking.
The one is the shadow of the other.

Conference & Pre-Conference Features

In addition to the rich content of the conference program, there are also many opportunities for socializing, informal discussion, and fun. We hope you will add extra time to your trip to expore the riches of D.C.

On Thursday, we will begin with conference check-in and a substantial reception preceding the evening presentation. Friday, Saturday, and Sunday mornings will start with breakfast so that you can begin your day with good company and conversation. Saturday evening features a cocktail reception, dinner, and dancing. Concurrent Sessions on Friday and Saturday afternoons offer a variety of topics to choose from.

Three optional pre-conference workshops are offered on Thursday. The annual CNASJA Delegates Meeting will be held for two days, Wednesday and Thursday. All analsyts are invited to the annual CNASJA Business Meeting on Thursday afternoon.

Friday evening is free for you to sample one of D.C.'s extraordinary restaurants. Have an unforgettable, entertaining opportunity to experience Washington politics at the source of power by going to a performance by Capitol Steps. Group tickets are available for this musical political satire by ex-congressional staffers for an additional fee.

Conference Goals and Objectives

To provide clinicians with the current perspectives within Analytical Psychology on a variety of issues, both individual and collective, that bear on clinical practice, contemporary culture, and institutional life.

To provide clinicians with theoretical and clinical material to deepen the understanding of the psyche as it is experienced in analytic practice.

To provide a forum in which clinicians may exchange theoretical ideas and clinical experiences around the issues of individuation of both analyst and analysand in the course of the analytic journey.

The Marriott at Metro Center

The conference will be held at The Marriott at Metro Center in downtown Washington D.C., providing easy access to all of the city's famous sites. The hotel's warm and inviting environment and central location make it an ideal choice for our conference. The hotel is adjacent to the D.C. Metro Rail System and is located at 775 12th Street, NW, Washington, DC 20005.

A limited number of sleeping rooms have been set aside for conference participants at the special conference rate of $189 plus tax (one king bed or two double beds).

These rooms are held for our group at these special rates until September 8, 2009. The hotel has offered to extend the special rates to our group for three days before and after the conference. Room reservations should be made as early as possible to ensure availability.

Reservations and payments for accommodations are to be made directly with The Marriott at Metro Center. To reserve your room, call the hotel at 800.228.9290 or visit www.marriott.com/hotels/travel/wasmc and enter the Group Code: jacjaca. If you are making a reservation for nights in addition to September 29-October 4, you will need to call the hotel in order to receive the special rate for those nights.

Be sure to mention the North American Conference of Jungian Analysts & Candidates in order to receive the special group rate and for the conference to be credited with your reservation.

Travel

Located just one mile from Union Station, five miles from Reagan National Airport, and 25 miles from Dulles International Airport, the area is easily accessible for all those arriving from out of town. With good public transportation and a wealth of activities in and around the hotel, there is little need to rent a car for the duration of the conference. Both airports have taxi, rental cars, shuttle service, and Metro accessibility. More information on ground transportation will be sent with your confirmation letter.
