

Announcement SFPA English version March 2020

COVID19 Psychological aid for health professionals

Analysts are listening to you in French.

As part of the fight against the Coronavirus epidemic, you, as health professionals, are faced with exceptional situations of distress and psychological pain in a context of illness and death.

For you who are in charge of saving our lives, volunteer analysts offer you psychological support by telephone appointments free of charge.

An email address is dedicated to you:

covid19-soutienpsybenevole@cgjungfrance.com

Please specify:

- the day of the week and your available time slot taking into account a processing time of 48 hours
- the phone or mobile number where you can be reached

An analyst from the French Society of Analytical Psychology will be available to help you and will call you back at the chosen day and time.

This service is valid for a maximum of 5 telephone conversations.

SFPA website: <https://cgjungfrance.com>