

<Jungian Psychology Lecture Series>

Taiwan Society of Analytical Psychology

EGO and Archetype

Lecturer | Dr. Chie Lee

Why should we read the book "Ego and Archetype"?

"Ego and Archetype" has been listed as a must-read book at Jungian analysis training centers around the world. It is always one of the top and most important books in the training requirements of the International Association of Analytical Psychology (IAAP) for routers. This is a rare book that clearly explains Jung's ideas without losing its original essence.

Edward F. Edinger was an important analyst among Jung's followers. He brought Jung's ideas to a new generation of American analysts through lectures and writings. He is widely regarded as the most important Jungian analyst trained from United States. In 1972, Edward Edinger's writing "Ego and Archetype" was published, which elaborated in great detail the complex relationship between ego, the Self and archetype. People have come to realize that the work carried out by Edward Edinger and his published works can, to a great extent, provide a clear and structured interpretation of Jung's theories and thoughts without detracting from their subtleness and depth.

Over the past few months, Chie Lee has spent eight lectures detailing "Anatomy of the Psyche," helping us to understand the many images associated with alchemy from a psychotherapeutic perspective. Reading Anatomy of the Psyche first is a preparation for reading Ego and Archetype.

The course "Anatomy of the Psyche" has just come to a close, we invite Chie Lee to continue the 10-lecture series on the book "Ego and Archetype", which will begin on 10th of April, 2021, to explore the dialogue between the human self and the image of God.

About Edward F. Edinger

Edward F. Edinger was born in State of Iowa, USA shortly after Jung and Wilhelm met in German. Edward F. Edinger, who was trained and became Jungian analyst in United States, was an important member of C. G. Jung Institute of New York and served as its president since 1968. He moved to Los Angeles after stepping down as president and continued his clinical and theoretical works at C.G.

Jung Institute of Los Angeles.

Edinger's writings involves four themes: clinic, culture, alchemy and Jung's myth for modern man (that is, the psychological salvation in traditional religions). Due to these achievements, Edinger is also considered as one of the most important Jungian scholars in United States.

Born in Shanghai, grew up in Macau. She went to Los Angeles and settled down there afterwards.

Graduated from University of Southern California School of Dentistry

Graduated from Received Jungian analyst certification 2000

One of the earliest ethnic Chinese who obtain the qualification

In the 1980s, Chie Lee had already graduated from the University of Southern California School of Dentistry and started practicing dentistry in Los Angeles. Meanwhile, Edinger also moved from New York to the West Coast, where he began giving regular lectures at C.G. Jung Institute of Los Angeles. Chie Lee attended every lecture he gave. According to the law of California, psychotherapists must have license, and psychotherapist qualification is also required to be a Jungian analyst. In order to become a Jungian analyst, Chie Lee decided to study psychology, and graduated from Pacific Graduate School of Psychology in 1990 and became qualified psychotherapist. She formally entered C.G. Jung Institute of Los Angeles and became Edinger's student - although she had already been a familiar student of Edinger many years ago.

Chie Lee completed her training at C.G. Jung Institute of Los Angeles and became first batch of Chinese Jungian analysts in 2000. By this time, she had been studying in Jung psychology realm for nearly two decades. Because of this, she was immediately hired as a mentor at C.G. Jung Institute of Los Angeles after graduated. In 2010, she became President of C.G. Jung Institute of Los Angeles. In 2019, she was elected to the Executive committee of C.G. Jung Institute of Los Angeles and became one of the nine executive members of IAAP.

From the 1980s to the 2000s, Chie Lee went from a student who listened to Edinger's lectures to a lecturer who speaks of Edinger's wisdom. She has been exposed to Edinger's writings and knowledge for nearly four decades. If we would like to read, understand and apply Edinger's knowledge, Chie Lee must be our most suitable guide.

About the Reading Ego and Archetype

This book is about the individual's journey to psychological wholeness, which is known in analytical psychology as the process of individuation. Edward Edinger traces the stages in this process and relates them to the search for meaning through encounters with symbolism in religion, myth, dreams, and art. For contemporary men and women, Edinger believes, the encounter with the self is equivalent to the discovery of God. The result of the dialogue between the ego and the archetypal image of God is an experience that dramatically changes the individual's worldview and makes possible a new and more meaningful way of life.
