Four Pillars of Jungian Psychoanalysis

Murray Stein, Ph. D.

About the Lecture

The school of psychological counseling or psychotherapy has been developed for more than a hundred years since Freud. In the past century, many theories and orientations have been developed, and these theories and orientations are the basis for therapists working with client casework maps. Among the many psychotherapy theories and orientations, what are the distinctive features of the Jungian approach? This question is answered by renowned Jungian analyst Dr. Murray Stein in his new book: "Four Pillars of Jungian Psychoanalysis".

After years of practice, study and research, Dr. Stein believes that the core of the Jungian method has four foundations. This lecture will take eight hours to describe the main concepts of these four foundations.

Content:

"Individualization" provides a map and a path to the lifelong development process. This map is not only a basis for assessing the client's psychological development, but also an orientation to the role and function of therapists in the therapeutic relationship.

Pillar Two: The Analytic Relationships

July 07, 2022 on Thursday at 20:00~22:00 (GMT)

The "analytical relationship" is about transference and counter-transference. The Jungian puts emphasis on the depth psychological understanding of healing effects of the therapeutic encounter.

Pillar Three: Dream as a Way to Wholeness

July 14, 2022 on Thursday at 20:00~22:00 (GMT)

Content:

The Jungian puts great emphasis on dreams, which is arguably the greatest of all schools of therapy. It is one of the unique working methods of the Jungian psychology to approach, reflect, and interpret unconscious material via the individual's dream

Pillar Four: Active Imagination as Agent of Transformation

July 28, 2022 on Thursday at 20:00~22:00 (GMT)

Content:

Active imagination is peculiar to the Jungian school, and there are many analysts who have developed approaches to the unconscious by applying the concept of active imagination. Although related to unconscious contact, active imagination is not the same as dreaming. It is "dreaming with open eyes," and the individual is conscious during the experience.
